

Artie Bennett

Belches, Burps, and Farts—Oh My!

The Butt Book

superfun, educational picture books for kids

Poopendous!

Peter Panda Melts Down!

The Mongol yurt,
a native shack,
is often sealed
with dung of yak.

Patches found on baboon rumps
help them when they sit on stumps.

On their butts, skunks have a gland that sprays a stink no one can stand.

A Masai tribesman
proudly struts
before a row
of cow-dung huts.

Uh-oh.
Here it comes.
Here comes that frown.

Peter Panda melts downwwwnn!

Lonely beetles need a mate.
Tooting draws a candidate!
A chemical within each fart helps to win a beetle's heart!

Dogs fart with alarming ease.
Smell it wafting on the breeze.

“It appears there is no
topic Mr. Bennett can't make funny and educational.”

—The Huffington Post

School Visits

Artie loves to share his hilarious and educational picture books with schoolchildren. His books can be used to jumpstart a discussion on many nature-themed topics. He can read his books aloud and/or give a PowerPoint presentation filled with fascinating information. Also, he can conduct writing workshops. His appearances are always highly interactive and engage children at all levels. And most of all, they are fun and they show children how entertaining a book can be, encouraging a lifelong love of reading.

Contact Artie Bennett to discuss a school and/or bookfair visit. He would love to come!

Artie Bennett

artie@artiebennett.com

artiebennett.com

“Artie Bennett educates and delights at the same time. Students are on the edge of their seats and engaged during his appearances. Written in verse, his texts lend themselves well to science, poetry, creative writing, and multiple cross-curricular connections. Mr. Bennett is an engaging speaker and hands fly high whenever he opens the floor for questions.” —Amy Althoff, Literacy Coordinator, Explore Charter Schools

“Thank you for the absolutely delightful assembly. The children adored the presentation! Your books are infused with a delightful use of rhyme, onomatopoeia, remarkable facts, and extraordinary illustrations that kept the children mesmerized. As an educator, I love it. They serve as a fabulous starting point for language arts, science, math, and cultural diversity.” —Susan Cramer, Reading Specialist, Maple Shade Elementary School, PA

“Thank you so much for sharing your stories with us! You are a clever author indeed and surely do remind me of the great Dr. Seuss!” —Mrs. Olsen, second-grade teacher, Temple Hill Academy, NY